Among the Clubs and Other Organizations.

The Thirty club and its guests enjoyed a jolly dance Tuesday evening in the Columbian hall. Those present were Misses Dolly McChellan, Eunice Kahle, Mabel Fitch, Ruth Simpson, Mary Pratt, Lora and Maybelle Lovelace, Kathryn Grimmer, Alina Stern, Genevieve Tierney, Victoria Forde, Margaret Keeler, Jean Hubbs, Dora Campbell, Messrs. Jack McDonough, Jim Skinner, Will McMillin, Russell Hutchinson, Fred White, Will White, Bruno Diekmann, W. W. Lindsay, Prager, Buzz Tierney, Ralph Keeler, Jake Harlan, J. C. Collins, C. Stroma, Lloyd Surges, Mossmann, Tom Egan, Mrs. Roy Strome and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Skinner.

The Crochet club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. C. H. Conner, 400 North Twelfth street, and enjoyed a delightful afternoon.

The Wednesday Sewing club was entertained at 9 o'clock breakfast this week by Mrs. Roy Cowper, 104 North Twelfth street. An unusually jolly time was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Cowper had as guests besides the club members, Mrs. C. H. Conner and Mrs. N. S. Parks.

Mrs. J. A. Reidy, 521 East Central avenue, entertained the Highland Bridge club this week. Cards and a dainty lunch made the afternoon pass all too quickly.

The Tuesday Afternoon Sewing club met with Mrs. Benson Newell this week and had a jolly time. Miss Irene Saint will be the next hostess.

Mrs. John Parker entertained the Precious Sewing club Thursday afternoon. Sewing and refreshments made the afternoon most enjoyable.

A very enjoyable entertainment was held Tuesday evening at the Central Avenue Methodist church, the object of which was to give members of the congregation a chance to get acquainted.

An interesting program of music and speeches was rendered, after which refreshments were served and a few toasts given.

The toasts were as follows: "Our Past," Mr. J. D. Emmons; "Our Pastor's Salary," Mr. Edgar Bass; "Music and the Choir," Mrs. R. C. Howell; "The Woman's Mission Society," Mrs. W. C. Thaxton; "Our Preacher," Rev. J. H. Messer.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD TEA.

The ladies of St. John's Guild varied their usual custom of giving a monthly tea by having a lawn fete Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. S. Strickler, 1905 West Central avenue.

Guests were received by the members of the Guild and were served by St. Margaret's Guild.

Delicious punch, ice cream, strawberries, and cake made a delightful change from the usual refreshments, and the affair was a splendid success throughout.

ELKS TO CELEBRATE FLAG DAY.

The Elks are planning a big public celebration of Flag Day, June 14, in their theater.

A splendid program is being prepared which will include patriotic speeches by local orators and several musical numbers.

A ladies' quartette, composed of Mesdames R. A. Winchester, Roy McDonald, Ralph Henderson, and Hugh Collins, will sing "Maryland," and a male quartette, the members of which are Messrs. Chas. Andrews, W. W. Lindsay, Hugo Myer, and Prevot Cartwright, will sing "My Old Kentucky Home." Dixie will be sung by the two quartettes combined. Mr. Charles Andrews has charge of the musical numbers, a fact which insures their merit. Both quartettes have been practicing for some time and sing exceptionally well.

WOODMEN'S MEMORIAL.

The Woodmen's lodge will hold its memorial services Sunday, June 8, at the cemetery. A feature of their program is the ladies' quartette which has been organized recently, and which is the best that Albuquerque has had for some time. Their voices blend beautifully and they are all talented singers. The ladies are Mesdames R. A. Winchester, Roy McDon-

HELP FOR WORKING GIRLS

Two Girls Tell Story of Their Illness and How They Found Relief.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."

—Miss ANELLA JAQUILLARD, 613 Seventh Street, New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because my periods were suppressed and I had pains in my back and sides, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked a charm in my case and has regulated my system. I have recommended your medicine to many of them."

—Miss ESTELLA MACUNE, 119 Thuring St., Saint Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

aid, Ralph Henderson, and Hugh Collins.

FIFTY AT MIERCOLES CLUB.

Last Saturday the Miercoles club met with Mrs. Wm. Menaul and entertained the families of the members and a few other guests, about fifty in all being present. Games were played in and out of doors and a musical program was enjoyed.

A feature of the afternoon was a cotchew which when unwound paired off the guests for the elaborate and delicious supper which was served.

The Menaul home was appropriately decorated in flags and bunting. At a late hour "America" was sung, after which the guests departed.

Besides the club members and their families there were present Mrs. Gray, Miss Anna and Blanche Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Blair, Mr. Charles Jones of Chicago and Miss Green.

The Monday Afternoon Bridge club met Thursday afternoon this week with Mrs. George Stetson, 300 South Walter street and enjoyed several exciting games, after which a delicious two-course lunch was served.

The Tuesday Afternoon Sewing club met with Mrs. Benson Newell this week and had a jolly time. Miss Irene Saint will be the next hostess.

The Cascade club of the Y. W. C. A. will give a Hoo-doo carnival at the Womans club the evening of Friday, June 14th, at 7:30 o'clock. An abundance of ice cream, cake and punch, a fish pond, a fortune-telling booth, and an impromptu musical program will make the evening a jolly and enjoyable one.

The object of the Cascade club is to raise money to send a delegate to the annual Y. W. C. A. conference at Estes Park, Colo.

Everyone is invited and it is hoped that there will be a good crowd present to enjoy the pleasant evening which has been planned.

The Odd Fellows will hold their Memorial services June 15th at the Baptist church.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetrate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering, pain and distress incident to childbearing and child-rearing is lessened by having a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a wonderful, penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without the painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided all those nervous spells, the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted and a bright, sunny, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and its eyes is brightened at the joy of his arrival. You can obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend at any drug store at $1.00 and it will be the best dollar's worth you ever obtained. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a quick and complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which men owe so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Readfield Regulator Co., 129 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend to-day.

Dainty Suggestions

By Jean Hubbs

If lumps of sugar which are to be served with black coffee are rubbed with lemon peel that will impart a delicious flavor to the coffee. Sugar for tea may be rubbed with orange peel with the same result.

Nuts which in spring and summer have become dry and tasteless may be much improved in flavor if they are soaked in lukewarm water.

Try making tea in the following way. Boil the teapot, put in the proper amount of tea and pour over it half a cup of boiling water. Pour the water off immediately, let the tea leaves stand for a moment to uncurl, then pour fresh boiling water over them and allow them to steep. Wash the tea in this way removes all dust and germs and gives clear tea of a fine flavor.

Whipped cream is very pretty colored slightly to carry out a general color scheme.

Radishes may be fried with beef-steak with delicious results. They taste so much like mushrooms that it is quite difficult to recognize the difference.

Peas and asparagus tips cooked together, seasoned with salt, pepper and butter, and moistened with cream make a fine vegetable combination dish.

A clove added to the tea in a tea ball gives a pleasant flavor which no one recognizes and every one enjoys.

Some old-fashioned housewives mix their griddlecakes with sweet oil, diluting about one-half with water. The flavor of the cider is not perceptible but it makes the cakes wonderfully light and feathery.

It is said that the best way to roast almonds for salting or dipping is in a corn popper over a good fire.

Left-over mashed potatoes may be heated in a double boiler and they will taste as good as though they were fresh cooked.

An olive placed in each cup before pouring in bouillon gives the liquid an added and pleasing flavor.

A vanilla bean kept in a box of sugar will impart a delicate flavor to the sugar without appreciable waste of the bean.

It is not easy to cut freshly-made brown bread. Pass a new white string around the loaf, cross the ends, and then pull them out to their full length. This makes a clean cut, the slices will be uniform, and no bread need be wasted.

The following method will bring back mayonnaise which has curdled. Take a lump of ice as big your fist and rub it quickly through the mayonnaise for a couple of minutes. Then take it out and stir very briskly. The oil will have been remedied without the bother of using a fresh plate and egg yolk. Be sure to have a large lump of ice; small pieces will do no good because they do not cool the mixture quickly enough.

BOOK REVIEW.

BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Locke—"Stella Maris." A very melodramatic tale, in which the heroine is an invalid girl who has been surrounded with luxury and safeguarded from any knowledge of the real conditions of life. Two young men—an actor and a journalist—who have helped to build up her making believe world, are later under necessity of helping her readjust her life to the world in which they live.

Grey—"Desert Gold." A romance of the strange, wild borderland of the Arizona-Mexican frontier, wherein American filibusters, Mexican guerrillas, cowboys, prospectors, and Apaches play their strange parts.

The story proper opens with a scene in a frontier town, in which the hero, a graduate of an eastern college, his friend, a United States soldier, a beautiful Mexican girl and Mexican insurgents take part. The girl, betrothed to the soldier, is saved from the insurgents and taken to the ranch. There comes a long chase through the desert resulting in a battle at the crest, between Mexicans, Indians and Americans and the rescue of the girl.

E. C. Bentley—"The Woman in Black." Sigbee Manderson, of sensational fortune and career and a dominating power in the American financial world, dies suddenly at his English country home, startling the financial world into a panic. Then comes the report that he has been murdered and robbery is not the motive. Why murdered then? London detectives have seldom been called in to a more baffling mystery. At every turn the theory is blocked by proof that the trail is wrong, yet every trail leads into some curious tangle, which only deepens the mystery of Manderson's lonely life—lonely in spite of a young and beautiful wife—and strange death. The final clearing up of the strange affair comes only at the end.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

OPEN COURT FOR DIVORCE CASES POPULAR

Public Praise for Decision of House of Lords to Take Secrecy Away from Separation Suits.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

London, June 7.—Critics and enemies of the House of Lords seldom view it in the light of a champion for popular rights, yet there is not a discordant note in the public and editorial praise for its decision providing for the "open court" in divorce cases.

The law, which the Lords, as the final court of appeal of the United Kingdom, established, settles two questions of the utmost importance. They are that divorce and nullity cases must be heard publicly and that a person adjudged guilty of contempt of court may appeal the question of contempt to a higher tribunal. On both points the Lords overruled the court of appeals.

In the Scott case, which was one to declare a marriage null, the hearing was secret, and Mrs. Scott was afterward adjudged guilty of contempt for circulating a report of the decision among her friends.

The court of appeals, by a vote of four to two, upheld the right of the judge to hold the hearing in camera, and also declared that there could be no appeal from a ruling that a person was in contempt of court. The Lords went even further than reversing the lower courts. They decided that the questions were of such importance to the public that the government should pay all the costs Mrs. Scott incurred in fighting the case before the court of appeals and the House of Lords.

The tendency of English courts of late years has been toward secrecy in divorce cases, and the order for closed doors was most apt to be made when parties were of high position and thus able to bring influence to bear. The recent suit by the Countess of Yarmouth, formerly Miss Alice Thwaite, for the nullification of her marriage was tried secretly. In other cases the judges have ordered spectators to leave the court at certain stages of the trial and have ordered the reporters not to mention parts of the evidence. Witnesses also have been instructed to mention people who figured in the testimony only as "X."

Under an act of 1857 three classes of cases may be heard behind closed doors. Those concern the affairs of children who are wards; of lunatics and cases where trade secrets must be discussed. There is also a law empowering judges to order spectators from court when children have to give evidence of a certain nature. But that law specifically states that reports of newspapers can not be excluded.

In the trial of several suffragettes recently judges have ordered all women from court. The Lords' decision appears to make that impossible. Under it, except for the three classes included in the act of 1857, all hearings must be public. As many subjects of the King as the court room will accommodate have the right to enter and to stay so long as they behave.

A model of the second Drury Lane theater has been sent to America, where it will be placed in the Columbia university museum among the famous collection of model illustrating the history of the stage. The model is the work of J. P. Mansfield, who recently constructed a representation of the Fortune theater for Columbia. It depicts Drury Lane as it was in 1774, when Sheridan, Linley and Ford became the proprietors of the patent. A century before this the theater had been constructed by Mr. Christopher Wren and a century later Robert Adams reconstructed the interior. The stage in the model is set for the scene scene in this "School for Scandal."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; and cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
